WUHAN

Wuhan is the capital of Hubei Province, and is the most populous city in Central China. It lies at the intersection of the Yangtze and Han rivers, arising out of the conglomeration of three cities, Wuchang, Hankou, and Hanyang.

Wuhan is known as "Jiusheng Tongqu" (the nine provinces' leading thoroughfare); It is a major transportation hub, with dozens of railways, roads and expressways passing through the city and connecting to other major cities.

Because of its key role in domestic transportation and economic development, Wuhan was sometimes referred to as "the Chicago of China" by foreign sources.
