Faculty of Organisation Studies Novo mesto organizes Jean Monet Chair workshop that will take place on 13. March 2020 at 10 a.m.

“Future European Functional Design”

Future of the Europe is endangered!?!? By migration...? terrorism..? Political discussion on treats to the Europe are concerned with the consequences of everlasting imbalances in the world, which are rarely addressed in practice by the same political elites. However, future of the Europe strongly depends on the ability of the European nations to further develop the tolerance and peaceful coexistence of national and cultural differences.

In this perspective, there is the need to understand Brexit, White paper on the European Union and continuous rise of nationalism in the European states in different perspective. Is White paper dangerous attempt to unification which will result in another devastating war or totalitarian state? And finally is raise of nationalism in Europe recently response to the migration crisis of 2015 or it is actually reaction to the lose of sovereignty of EU member states in relation to the supranational structure of power, controlled by stronger member states. Narratives of the reality can be different, and they serve one interest or another. In this perspective, EU is still only the balance of different interests, which will define the new structure of the organisation itself. Maybe as Yugoslavia-like federal system, or a-la-cart menu of policies available for countries to chose.

In this perspective, Jean Monnet Chair, prof. dr. Uroš Pinterič invites interested experts to present their research in the field of the European Union, its institutional design and development. Despite not limited, topics should address the questions of the future of the European union, or specific fields in this perspective. The workshop, provides open floor for the critical discussion of the EU future.

We are looking forward to meeting you at the Faculty of Organisation Studies in Novo mesto.
